

Around the Globe

Delta's JFK Terminal 4 Receives the Five Star Diamond Award

Chuck Imhof Staff Vice President- New York at Delta Air Lines, Joseph Cinque, Celebrity Interior Designer Thom Filicia and Karen Lynn Dixon

Delta Sky Club Reception Area at the New JFK Terminal 4

JFK's Newest Diamond

Delta has a new home at the new Terminal 4 at Kennedy Airport, which was bestowed the coveted Five Star Diamond Award. The expanded concourse offers sweeping views of the airport, upscale food and shopping options and increased seating. The most unique part is a 2,000-square-foot rooftop deck that offers sweeping views of the runways and airplanes. But it is part of a new Delta Sky Club, accessible only to members or passengers flying international business class. The new Delta Sky Club was designed by celebrity interior designer Thom Filicia. The Five Star Diamond Terminal 4 offers a comfortable and convenient airport experience, and it was selected as one of the most modern, efficient, spacious, technically advanced and unique terminals worldwide.

The Sky Deck at Delta Sky Club.

The Sky Deck at Delta Sky Club, debuting at JFK Terminal 4, is a 2,000-square-foot rooftop terrace developed in partnership with Architectural Digest. Renowned designer Thom Filicia was selected by Architectural Digest to create a distinctive space that will offer passengers runway views and the comfort, convenience and relaxation they have come to expect from the award-winning Delta Sky Club.

Chuck Imhof Staff Vice President- New York at Delta Air Lines, receives the Five Star Diamond Award from AAHS President Joseph Cinque

Celebrity Interior Designer Thom Filicia and AAHS President Joseph Cinque at the Delta Sky Deck

